

Norwich Buddhist Centre Children's Policy

Can I bring my children to the Buddhist Centre?

Safeguarding laws mean that we need to limit the circumstances in which we can welcome children to the Buddhist Centre.

Under 16s

Children Under 16 can come to the Buddhist Centre's daytime festivals. They need to be supervised at all times by a responsible adult.

On other occasions, children under 16 cannot attend our classes and courses.

When can children aged 16 and 17 come to the Buddhist Centre?

Children 16 and 17 can come to the Buddhist Centre by prior arrangement. They will need to be accompanied at all times by a responsible adult. Please email the Buddhist Centre on info@norwichbuddhistcentre.com to arrange this.

Do you have any events specifically for children?

Occasionally, events specifically for children and parents might be offered. These will be advertised on our website.

School Visits

Official school parties are welcome to visit the Norwich Buddhist Centre. School visits are organised by arrangement with the school. Teachers can email the Buddhist Centre on info@norwichbuddhistcentre.com to arrange a school visit. Students in their GCSE year and onwards can also email us to arrange a supervised educational visit.

Our full policy on the safeguarding of children is given here.
